Sec. Bryan Resigns; the Cabinet Crisis Is Passed

FORCES OF ITALY ARE EXPECTANT

Consolidating Positions Along River Isonzo, for First
Serious Battle

WHICH PROBABLY WILL OCCUR WITHIN A WEEK

PRELIMINARY SKIRMISHES

Have Marked Operations
Up to Present Time—
Russians in East Fighting Desperately to Stem Austro-German Advances
and Situation There is Very Critical.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, June 9.—From Caporetta to the head of the Gulf of Trieste, the forces of Italy are consolidating their positions along the river Isonzo, and in a week, or perhaps sooner, the first serious battle along this front should be fought.

The clashes up to the present time
have been of a preliminary character,
but now that the Italians not only command the river crossings from the western bank, but at several points have thrown troops to the eastern bank of the Isonzo, a conflict of first-rate tactical importance, in the opinion of British observers, is inevitable.

In the eastern arena, the Russians are fighting desperately to stem the Austro-German advance in the direction of Lemberg. While some sections of the British press maintain that the Teutonic rush has lost its impetus,
the more general feeling is that unless the Russians succeed in developing a counter offensive on a colossal scale, the entire Galician situation will remain unfavorable to Russian arms and more than likely involve the abandonment of Lemberg, capital of the crown land of Galicia.

In the western theatre, the slow but steady French gains predominate the situation.

REPORTED DAMAGE TO GERMAN SHIPS IN NAVAL BATTLE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Petrograd, June 9.—The Army Messenger referring to the naval engagement, June 7, in the Baltic Sea, off the Gulf of Riga, says that Russian submarines engaged no fewer than ten German warships, which were attempting a sortie into the Baltic.
The explosions on board some of these vessels lead to the belief that damage was done by the undersea boats.

A German second-class cruiser, the newspaper adds, was struck by a mine, June 4. She did not sink, but was towed into Libau. A German steamer called the Hindenburg, was blown up by striking a Russian mine.

BRYAN GIVES DEVOTION TO DUTY AS A CITIZEN, WISHING PEACE, AS THE REASON

Secretary of State Bryan's letter of resignation is as follows:
"My Dear Mr. President:
"It is with sincere regret that I have reached the conclusion that I should return to you the commission of secretary of state, with which you honored me at the beginning of my administration.
"Obedience to your sense of duty and actuated by the highest motives, you have prepared for transmission to the German government a note in which I cannot join without violating what I deem to be an obligation to my country, and the issue involved is of such importance that to remain a member of the cabinet would be as unfair to you as it would be to the cause which is nearest my heart, namely, the prevention of war.

"I therefore, respectfully tender my resignation, to take effect when this note is sent, unless you prefer an earlier hour.
"Alike desirous of reaching a peaceful solution of the problem arising out of the use of submarines against merchantmen, we find ourselves differing irreconcilably as to the methods which should be employed.

"It falls to your lot to speak officially for the nation; I consider it to be none the less my duty as a private citizen to promote the end which you have in view, by means which you do not feel at liberty to use.

"In severing the intimate and pleasant relations which have existed between us during the past two years, permit me to acknowledge the profound satisfaction which it has given me to be associated with you in the important work which has come before the state department, and to thank you for the courtesies extended.

"With the heartiest good wishes for your personal welfare and for the success of your administration, I am, my dear Mr. President, Very truly yours,
"WILLIAM J. BRYAN."

Flag Day Proclamation Is Issued by Gov. Willis Who Names Next Monday, June 14

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, O., June 9.—Governor
Willis issued a proclamation today,
calling on all citizens of Ohio to display the United States flag next Monday, June 14, in recognition of the one-hundred and thirty-eight anniversary of the flag's adoption. He urges every person on that day to give "earnest thought to the purpose, the intent, the aim, the hope of the sacred Stars and Stripes."

"The flag stands for the transcendency of right, for the lowliest to attain the summit, for world-wide equality, for universal freedom without regard to race or color," the governor's proclamation adds. "It is not a flag of conquest but of concord. It is not a flag of haughtiness but of humanity and humility. It is not a flag of oppression, but of optimism and opportunity. It was conceived in a spirit of ardor, but not of arrogance. In it was instilled conciliation and conscience. It is the world's token of quality, freedom and justice.

"It is that in our flag which attracts to our shores
those from other lands that we should reverence and hold forth prominently in our minds. It is the insignia of hope. Wherever it floats
there is encouragement and inspiration.

"The serene field of blue, the stripes
of valiant red and tranquil white stand for patience, firmness, peace. A more beautiful banner for a nation was never designed and never will be.

COUSTER STEPS TO BE POSTPONED BY GOVERNOR WILLIS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, June 9.—That Gov-nor Willis will take no steps before next week to oust any of the members of the state commissions or boards whose resignation he asked two months ago, seemed probably today when it was announced he would not be in his office this week except possibly for a few hours Friday or Saturday. He is making a series of commencement addresses. Today he was in Yellow Springs to speak to graduates of Antioch college. He will make graduation talks at Mount Union college, Alliance, tomorrow,
and at the Bellefontaine high school Friday. Saturday the governor will attend a reunion of corn boys of Miami county, in Piqua.

CLEMENCY TO LEO M. FRANK IS REFUSED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Atlanta, June 9.—The Georgia prison commission today declined to recommend to Governor Slaton, a commutation of the death sentence of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan.

The commission's decision is not binding on the governor who, it was stated, will conduct further hearings
before making his decision.

The commission decided against clemency by a vote of 2 to 1. Commissioners E. L. Raine, and R. E.
Davidson, voted against a recommendation for clemency and Commissioner T. E. Patterson voted in Frank's favor.

SUBMARINE SINKS BRITISH STEAMER WITHOUT WARNING

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, June 9.—The British steamer Lady Salisbury was torpedoed by a German submarine this morning and sent to the bottom.

The Lady Salisbury, a collier, is said to have been torpedoed without warning near the Harwich lightship.
She sank in five minutes. Of the crew of 18, fifteen were rescued. The chief officer was killed and two men
are missing.

The Lady Salisbury was of 889 tons and 235 feet long. She was built in 1896 and owned in Newcastle.

TABLES TURNED: BRITISH DESTROY GERMAN SUBMARINE.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, June 9.—Official announcement was made today by Secretary of the Admiralty Balfour that a German submarine had been sunk
and that six of her officers and 21
members of her crew had been captured.

Mr. Balfour announced also that German submarine prisoners heretofore shall be accorded treatment
identical with all other German prisoners in England.

Strike Threatened On Chicago Car Lines

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, June 9.—Official sanction of international president W. D.
Mahon has been given the 11,000
employees of Chicago street car lines to strike, if necessary to enforce the demands for a wage increase, it was reported today. The men expect to determine by tonight whether a strike or arbitration will be determined upon.

ference of Girl Scouts will be held here June 10-12. It is expected that

DIRIGIBLE AFIRE, FELL INTO SEA; CREW CAPTURED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Rome, June 8.—Via Paris, June 9.—
An Italian dirigible, which made an attack on the Austrian port of Fiume
yesterday, caught fire and was lost.
The crew is believed to have been saved and captured by the Austrians.

Official announcement to this effect
was made here today as follows:
"Yesterday at Fiume, one of our dirigibles dropped a number of bombs on quarters being used for military purposes. Returning from this raid, the dirigible was obliged, as the result of an accident, to come down in the sea in the vicinity of Lussin Island
and caught fire.
"The crew of the dirigible is reported to have been saved and captured."

COUPLE ACQUITTED OF ESPIONAGE BY A COURT MARTIAL

Paris, June 9.—A man giving the name of Pate, who claims American citizenship, and Madame Wasser,
born in Agricola, British Guiana,
have been acquitted by the Paris
permanent court martial of charges of espionage and theft. They were arrested at Malines by the Germans as suspects at the outbreak of the war but were released and came to Paris, where they were arrested.

The court supported the contention of the defense that since Malines still is occupied by the Germans, it would be impossible to obtain the evidence necessary to prove the charges against the suspects.

AUSTRIAN WOMEN WANT TO ENLIST IN THE SERVICE

Berlin, June 9.—(Via London.)—
From the town of Brixen in the Austrian Tyrol numerous requests have been received by the military authorities in Vienna from women begging to be allowed to serve in the ranks as soldiers. It is explained that such service is impossible.

Summer weather has come to Berlin. It has been warm for several days past and yesterday the thermometer registered 84 degree Fahrenheit.

Retiring Premier Gives In Detail The Principal Points of Difference With President On German Note

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, June 9.—Just as the new American note to Germany was started on its way over the telegraph wires, Mr. Bryan, at his home, gave out this statement of his position:
"My reason for resigning is clearly stated in my letter of resignation—namely: that I may employ as a private citizen the means which the president does not feel at liberty to employ. I honor him for doing what he believes to be right, and I am sure that he desires, as I do, to find a peaceful solution of the problem which has been created by the action of the submarines.
"Two of the points on which we differ, each conscious in his conviction, are:
"First—As to the suggestion of investigation by an international commission; and,

"Second—As to warning Americans against traveling on belligerent vessels, or which cargoes of ammunition is carried.
"I believe that this nation should frankly state to Germany that we are willing to apply in this case the principle which we are bound by treaty to apply to disputes between the United States and thirty countries with which we have made treaties
providing for investigation of all disputes of every character and nature.
"These treaties, negotiated under this administration, make war practically impossible between this country and these governments, representing nearly three-fourths of all the people of the world.
"Among the nations with which we have these treaties are Great Britain, France and Russia. No matter what disputes may arise between us and these treaty nations, we agree there shall be no declaration and no commencement of hostilities until the matters in dispute have been investigated by an international commission, and time is allowed for investigation and report. This plan was offered to all the nations without any exceptions whatever, and Germany was one of the nations that accepted

the principle, being the twelfth.
"I think, to accept. No treaty was actually entered into with Germany, but I cannot see that that should stand in the way when both nations engaged the principle.
"I do not know whether Germany
would accept the offer, but our coun-

COUNSELOR LANSING IS NAMED PREMIER AD INTERIM

First Time In History of the United States That the Resignation of a Secretary of State Has Been Caused By An Open Rupture With His Chief In Regard to Dealings of America With Foreign Nations—Bryan Announces That a Policy of Peace is "Nearest His Heart," While Wilson Wishes the Same End But Without Sacrifice of Any Principle.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, June 9.—William Jennings Bryan formally left his office as secretary of state today and Robert Lansing, counselor of the state department, was appointed by President Wilson as secretary of state ad interim.

The change in the cabinet at a critical moment in the nation's history took effect with the dispatch of the note to Germany.

After a conference with President Wilson today, Counselor Lansing announced that the note to Germany would go forward to Berlin this afternoon and would be given out for publication in Friday morning papers. He said the United States would not wait for notification from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin of its receipt there before giving it out.

Mr. Lansing said the work of coding the note was under way. It is signed by Mr. Lansing as acting secretary of state.

While at the White House, Mr. Lansing expressed regret at Mr. Bryan's resignation.

"I have grown very fond of the secretary and am very sorry to see him leave the department," said he.

After seeing Mr. Lansing, President Wilson went automobile riding.

As he entered his automobile, tourists in the White House grounds joined in a round of applause and the president raised his hat and smiled.

SECRETARY DANIELS WILL NOT RESIGN.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, June 9.—Reports that Secretary Daniels had resigned or would do so, were current today, but were flatly denied on all sides.
The report, it was said, grew out of the well known friendship and long intimacy in national politics of Mr. Bryan and Mr. Daniels.

As a matter of fact, nine members of the cabinet stood solidly for the president's position as expressed in the note. Mr. Daniels was with those who differed with the secretary of state. Some members even advised a stronger phraseology than the president had used, but on the final discussion the decision to send the note was unanimous.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, June 9.—After two years and three months as secretary of state of the United States—a little more than half of the Wilson administration, William Jennings Bryan today returned to private life. His departure from the cabinet under sensational circumstances
because he could not join in the approval of the note to Germany or reconcile the principles to the cause which he declared to be nearest his heart—"the prevention of war"—
developed today not only a most unusual situation in the domestic politics of the United States, but a grave
turn in its foreign policy.

Through his friends, it is learned that Mr. Bryan intends to continue his political support of the president.
He has given Mr. Wilson much assistance through his influence in Congress heretofore and plans to go on with the work for the maintenance of Democratic policies.

The note to Germany on which the president has been working for several days and which had the approval of the cabinet with the exception of Mr. Bryan, was expected to go forward today. It should, therefore, reach Ambassador Gerard about Thursday of this week for presentation to the German foreign office.

While no statements have been made
as yet concerning publication, it probably will be made public on Thursday. An answer is not expected in such a way as to leave no doubt abroad of the firm intention of the United States to enforce its rights if necessary, to secure protection for American citizens on the high seas.

Officials and diplomats who have followed out the situation very closely,
pointed out that the president stood with Mr. Bryan in the doing of everything possible to prevent war,
but believed it necessary also to be ready for any eventualities in case Germany refused to acquiesce in the American point of view as to neutral rights on the high seas and continue her attacks on American lives and vessels.

WILSON EXPRESSES SORROW IN ACCEPTING RESIGNATION, AND BIDS BRYAN GODSPEED

The president's letter to Mr. Bryan was as follows:

"My Dear Mr. Bryan:
"I accept your resignation only because you insist upon its acceptance; and I accept it with much more than deep regret, with a feeling of personal sorrow. Our two years of close association have been very delightful to me. Our judgments have accorded practically in every matter of official duty and of public policy until now;
your support of the work and purposes of the administration has been generous and loyal beyond praise; your devotion to the duties of your great office and your eagerness to take advantage of every great opportunity for service it offered, has been an example to the rest of us; you have earned our affectionate admiration and friendship.
Even now we are not separated in the object we seek, but only in the method by which we seek it.

"It is for these reasons my feeling about your retirement from the secretaryship of state goes so much deeper than regret. I sincerely deplore it. Our objects are the same and we ought to pursue them together. I yield to your desire only because I must, and wish to bid you Godspeed in the parting. We shall continue to work for the same causes even when we do not work in the same way.

"With affectionate regard, sincerely yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

ed from the German foreign office for at least a week thereafter.

Realizing that for the present there is little to do but await the German answer to the American note, many cabinet officers took a vacation today.

Secretary Bryan was the recipient of many telegrams expressing regret at his resignation and commending him for the manner in which he submitted it. His resignation was unexpected in official and diplomatic Washington generally. Only a few friends knew that Mr. Bryan had offered to eliminate himself from the situation to prevent further embarrassment in the cabinet.

Twice before it is now known Mr. Bryan was willing to place before the president his resignation but each time the president succeeded in bringing the secretary to his own point of view.

In the present crisis, Mr. Bryan is understood to have insisted upon and convinced the president that to remain in the cabinet would be very embarrassing to him because of his known advocacy of the cause of peace, particularly his negotiations of nearly thirty peace treaties with the principal nations of the world. The principle of these treaties is that all disputes be submitted to an international commission for a year's investigation during which hostilities are forbidden. Treaties of this kind have been negotiated with practically all nations except Germany, Japan and Turkey. Germany has accepted the principle of the treaties. The president heartily endorsed the idea of the treaties.

The situation with Germany, however, constitutes a case which high officials here believed could not be submitted to a tribunal for investigation unless some definite guarantee were given in advance that the acts complained of would not be repeated while the discussion or investigation was in progress.

It is the purpose of the note which is now being forwarded to Germany a definite guarantee with reference to safeguarding American lives and property in the future.

With this once established the United States probably would not be averse to discussion of facts in the Lusitania case. A complete investigation has been made by the United States government and the conclusion reached is that the Lusitania was an unarmed merchantman aboard which citizens of the United States and a fleet under international law to travel and it encountered no warship, to be transferred to a place of safety before the contraband on the ship was destroyed.

Mr. Bryan was up early today to begin closing up his affairs at the state department. Before breakfast he took a long north-bound ride along through Rock Creek park and then, returning to his home, Calamit Place, formerly the mansion of General John A. Logan, received one call, Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, who stopped on his way to his office to speak a word of regret at the secretary's departure.

Mr. Bryan said he would issue his promised statement, giving in detail his reasons for resigning, sometime today after the note to Germany has been started on its way to Berlin. It will contain about one thousand words.

"I will make it public as soon as I learn that I am no longer secretary of state," said Mr. Bryan. That will be before the note is dispatched.

Mr. Bryan's letter of resignation had asked that his resignation be effective when the note was sent, unless President Wilson wished to accept it sooner.

When Mr. Bryan started for his office Mrs. Bryan walked down the drive with him to his carriage, and at the approach of the couple, the old state department coachman, who for many years has driven the carriages which are assigned to the secretary, got down from his box and hat in hand, told them both how much he regretted to see Mrs. Bryan go and how much he had appreciated the secretary's kindness.

As the secretary drove to his office, probably for the last time, he passed through the government clerks on their way to the office, reading in the morning newspapers the news of his resignation. He was surrounded by scores who wanted to say a word of goodbye as he entered his office.

Counselor Lansing, who upon Mr. Bryan's resignation, becomes acting secretary, was at his desk early today and shortly before 10 o'clock went to the White House and saw the president. So far as state department records show, Mr. Bryan is the first secretary to resign as the direct result of a clear issue with the president on foreign policy. Some of his predecessors have had differences with their chiefs, but usually those have arisen from divergent views on details of negotiations but never have they developed to a point involving the surrender of a portfolio.

The nearest approach to Secretary Bryan's action recalled here was the resignation in 1898 of James A. Gary, of Maryland, postmaster general in President McKinley's cabinet. His resignation was based upon repugnance to the approaching war with Spain.

In Mr. Bryan's dramatic resignation observers in some quarters pressed to see a development in this country of the European idea of responsible cabinets answerable to public opinion. In nearly all constitutional European countries it has been the custom for an entire cabinet to resign office upon some such manifestation of public disapproval as an adverse vote in the legislative body. But in each case the consequence has been a more or less complete reversal in the political construction of the cabinet which was able to influence the action of the executive. Since the beginning of the present war, many of the European cabinets have thus been reconstructed but with the single exception of Italy, all of the changes have been caused by popular desire to meet the international question and perhaps, to strengthen the constitutional rules in the conduct of the war.

"I feel like all the other members of the cabinet," said Secretary Daniels. "I regret Mr. Bryan's resignation very much. Personally, I regret it. I am very fond of Mr. Bryan. I think the president expressed the feeling of everybody. His own feelings are the feelings of everybody. His own feelings are the feelings of all the members of that cabinet."

Mr. Bryan resigned rather than sign his name to the note which states in unmistakable, determined and emphatic terms the demands of the United States.

Mr. Bryan told his colleagues and friends today as they gathered about him in farewell that his affection for President Wilson was unchanged, and that he knew the president felt warmly toward him. Firmly believing he can advance the cause of peace outside of official life and build up a sentiment in the United States that will assist the president in maintaining friendly relations with all nations, Mr. Bryan today went back to private life.

The resignation of the secretary of state of the United States over a difference on a vital question of foreign policy—itsself unusual in the annals of American history—was most dramatically touched by numerous manifestations of personal regard for Mr. Bryan and his own emotion at leaving the office he held so dearly.

Tears flooded in his eyes while friends commended his courageous fight for principles and his determination to eliminate himself rather than continue in the cabinet as a possible embarrassment to the president.

The story of his fight to sway the president's judgment on the method of dealing with the situation with Germany is, as yet, untold. He made no effort to align other members of the cabinet with him, and when he came to the parting of the ways, on an irreconcilable question of principle, he did not tell his colleagues generally, hoping that his action to the last would not produce any complications in the cabinet.

For three days—from Saturday to Monday—the president had Mr. Bryan's resignation under consideration, and the secretary did not go in yesterday's cabinet meeting until the president's letter of acceptance reached him. The president had invited him to attend after letting the cabinet know of the situation. Quickly the consideration of the note continued, and at the end of the meeting the president and remaining members of the cabinet expressed to Mr. Bryan their sense of personal regret.

The close personal relationship of Mr. Bryan and the president will be reflected in the former secretary's future course, it was learned today authoritatively. Mr. Bryan intends to continue a staunch political supporter of Mr. Wilson on domestic affairs, and believes he can even assist him in the sentiment he hopes to build up for the principle of investigation of disputes before hostilities are begun.

It was this idea which embodied in thirty peace treaties negotiated by Mr. Bryan with the principal nations of the world—all but Germany, Austria, Belgium and Japan, the first three of which had accepted the principle.

Late today, after the note to Germany is on its way to Berlin, Mr. Bryan plans to issue from his home a statement outlining his position on the question that has arisen in the relations between the United States and Germany.

Mr. Bryan contended it would be better to submit the entire question to an investigation commission and, pending its deliberations, have Americans refrain from taking passage on ships carrying contraband, or which venture into danger zones on the high seas.

President Wilson is said to have been opposed to that idea, not only because he believed the United States in effect, would thereby be yielding its rights under international law, but because there was no guaranty that

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulled coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulled coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

lawful American commerce would be free from dangers during discussion.

That these principles are not of sufficient strength in American public opinion for the Washington government to commit itself to so form a policy as might result in war, is the conviction of Mr. Bryan, and he hopes to test public sentiment in a way that will assist the president as the American government's policy is developed.

Mr. Bryan, in his leave of state department employees, told them the "rewards of life are not to be found either in the money we make or in the honors we enjoy."

"The real honors are affections we feel for each other," he said.

"The best reward is appreciation accompanied by good will. In leaving you, I want to assure you, without reference to distinction or position, your co-operation and devotion to duty and that my good will follows you wherever you may be. If I can go out feeling that your good will goes with me, it will be a precious memory."

Solicitor Cone Johnson responded on behalf of the state department employees, and an affecting scene ensued. Friends of Mr. Bryan's present said they never had seen him show so much emotion.

Promptly at 12 o'clock Mr. Bryan left the state department and went to the White House where President Wilson received him.

For fifteen minutes the president and Mr. Bryan talked, exchanging words of farewell. The secretary was making his last official call on the president but nevertheless the personal element was present.

Cordially and without any trace of feeling, the two men talked of the situation which resulted in Mr. Bryan's resignation. Each spoke dispassionately of the differences and his belief that the other was doing what he thought best for the United States. Those who saw them were touched with the regard the two men displayed for each other.

Finally Mr. Bryan remarked that he knew the president was a busy man and that he would not detain him longer. The two men, who have stood together during the last two years in one crisis after another, rose to their feet, simultaneously, and clasped hands.

"God bless you," said each, as their hands touched.

Secretary Bryan continued to friends today that he slept all night last night for the first time in months.

There was a well defined trend of opinion in official quarters that the resignation of Mr. Bryan would go far in impressing Germany with the earnest intention of the United States to insist on its rights.

It is understood that the United States has from time to time, received authoritative information that high German officials believed the administration was committed to a policy of uninterrupted peace and did not intend at any time or under any circumstances to go to war. Mr. Bryan's resignation, many officials thought, would remove all doubts in Berlin and if Germany were sincerely desirous of averting war would arrange for a way out of the problem that has arisen which could honorably be accepted by the United States.

The view that Mr. Bryan's action, therefore, might favorably influence the situation was shared by some of his closest friends.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

In a paper read last year before the American Medical Society and published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W. Carhart, of San Antonio, Texas, a physician who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis, said: "Since time immemorial three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, or natural mineral waters, or with tuberculous unchecked. The widespread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to the deplorable (time taking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

This from another authoritative medical source comes justification for the use of time in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Since this is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alternative, much of the success attending the widespread use of the remedy doubtless is due to the combination of this salt in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. It causes no stomach disturbance, and since it contains neither opiates, narcotics nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

Eckman's Alternative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption), the so-called chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

In case your druggist is out of it, ask him to order, or send direct to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia

STOLEN MACHINE RECOVERED HERE BY POLICE DEPT.

Headquarters Officer Robert Francis Tuesday night brought into town a Ford automobile stolen from George Willey, of Zanesville, some time Tuesday. The machine was deserted by the thief a mile and a half east of Newark where it was located by Motor Cop James Richter. The thief had bent the license tags so the numbers could not be read. Officer Francis brought the prize into port under her own power and today Mr. Willey arrived and took charge of the property. He was grateful to the local officials for their promptness in acting upon the report of the theft which prevented the thief from getting very far away with his stolen machine.

NEWARK FIRM GETS SEVERAL CONTRACTS FROM OUT OF TOWN

Mr. H. A. Bailey engaged in roofing and sheet metal work, has secured a number of very excellent out of town contracts, owing to the fact that the Blair Motor Truck recently purchased by the company, enables him to more easily convey the material to the site.

Among the contracts is one from Contractor Bell of Pittsburgh who is building a palatial home for J. Huston, a Pittsburgh capitalist two miles west of Gravelle on the Columbus and Newark pike. The contract is for $2000. Among the other contracts are the roofing, sheet metal work and furnace for the Schank residence, a $10,000 home at Thornville and for the Bailey firm the contract is for $1200; there is a contract with Watson Thomas for a Granville residence; three school house room heaters at Glentford and prospects for 9 more at Mt. Perry.

THE BATTLE FRONT

Petrograd, Russia, June 9.—Via London.—The number of head and arm wounds of the men at the front is enormous, for men in trenches, exposed only their heads and arms. Many hundreds are hit in the head and death does not result from the wound. Occasionally one may see the slightly wounded walk back with heads bound up or arms in slings. Motor trucks, loaded with wounded, tear along the roads leading back from the extreme front. Perhaps 40 per cent of the wounded are back on the firing line after three months' care and rest in a hospital. It all depends on a man's health and blood. If the blood is pure and good, the soldier gets the first aid, proper treatment and his wounds heal by first intention.

Good blood is everything to every man. It means fresh strong nerves, good digestion, good circulation. Those who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery marvel at the way it checks blood diseases. See a man today with skin all broken out, see him a few weeks later after using the "Discovery," his skin is all cleared up, eyes bright, and he is contented with himself.

The foundation of good health is good blood. Are you pale? Are you weak? Are you no longer ambitious or energetic? Have you pimples or boils? Do you suffer from headaches, low spirits? Then you are anemic—your blood is thin, lacking in healthy, strength-giving red corpuscles. Then your blood is impure—and your liver is not up to its task of clearing the blood from the poisons accumulated. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a temperance remedy that will restore to you rich, health-giving blood—a remedy proved by experience (in tablet or liquid form). It is a glyceric extract of roots from our forests, known to science as those which will best give the stomach, liver and bowels needed help.—Adv.

FLAG TOURNAMENT OF GOLF CLUB THURSDAY P. M.

There will be a flag tournament at the golf links of the County Club, tomorrow afternoon. All golf-players are eligible to enter this contest, which will be based on the players' present handicap, added to eighty-two, the bogey of the course, and the man who places his flag the greatest distance in his particular number of strokes will be the winner. There is sure to be a great deal of interest in this contest, as all players have an equal chance of winning, on account of the handicap system in use.

The present standing of golf players is to be changed and all positions will be reassigned according to the standing of the players based on a qualifying round of eighteen holes, which must be played in one week. All score-cards must be turned in to the golf committee by Wednesday night, June 16, at 7 p. m. The man having the lowest medal score for the eighteen holes, will be assigned to No. 1; the man having the next lowest, No. 2, and so on. After the positions have been assigned on the board, players may advance their positions by defeating any of those having positions within three points ahead of them.

The committee expects this method will stimulate competition and improve the golf playing of the golf team. Newark is to play Zanesville on Thursday, June 17, and the team standing made up from the score-cards will be used in playing the match against Zanesville also.

The golf players are urged by the committee to enter the flag tournament tomorrow.

BASEBALL POOL IS PROBED BY DIST. ATTORNEY

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 9.—Assistant United States District Attorney Moultrie today began in behalf of the government an investigation as to whether the "baseball pool" evil exists in Cincinnati and elsewhere in the southern district of Ohio.

While he has had his attention called to the matter through several unofficial channels, his decision to act was reached after he received a letter from the prosecutor of Muskingum county, Ohio, in which that official declares that he had immediate knowledge of the existence of this form of gambling and that it is in distinct violation of the federal statutes. Mr. Moultrie wrote immediately in reply that he would greatly appreciate the receipt of the information and would start the machinery of the government in motion as soon as tangible evidence was supplied to him. In the meantime, Mr. Moultrie will co-operate with the police.

ever been seen before in this or any country. His sincerity cannot be questioned. He merely allows his emotions to get the better of him, but not to the extent that it is a weakness. His men cannot resist his fervor any more than can his audience, and so the results are not surprising. His band is composed of fifty players who put color into their work and can master a volume of amazing immensity, reflecting their director's magnetism, totally unlike any other organization before the public. His programs are always interesting throughout. He knows just what he is playing, the story, the music, the scene, and the playing is such that he is recognized by the leading musical critics of this country as the most wonderful director of the day.

ESTABLISHED IN 1820.

Entered at Second Class Matter March 10, 1882, at the Postoffice at Newark, Ohio, under Act of March 6, 1879.

America asks nothing for herself but what she has a right to ask for humanity itself.

WOODROW WILSON.

Once a year at Commencement time the college president is allowed to have his name in the paper along with the ball players.

As usual this year, a good many city people are treating themselves to the extravagant luxury of trying to make money on a farm.

Although the bridegroom is not an important factor, it is not good form for a newspaper to write up a wedding without at least mentioning who he is.

Senator Pomerene and Federal Patronage.

The Washington dispatches carrying the notice of Senator Pomerene's endorsement of Hon. Arthur Espy for appointment as assistant United States treasurer at Cincinnati, paid the senior senator a high compliment in the following words:

"Owing to Senator Pomerene's unbroken line of patronage successes at the White House it is presumed that the recommendation of Espy will be approved at once both by the secretary of the treasury and by the president."

Senator Pomerene's supremacy in federal patronage matters belonging to Ohio is not the result of accident or chance. There is a reason for it. He has played the patronage game "on the level" from the beginning. He has never abused his power by "putting anything over" either on the president at Washington or the party leaders in Ohio. He has been open-minded and considerate, always; never domineering or dictatorial. He has not hesitated to put the interests of the public or the party first, and his personal wishes or desires second if the two seemed to conflict. He has no broken promise to embarrass him—no entangling alliances to plague him—no uncertain or questionable legislative record to defend.

These facts explain Senator Pomerene's "unbroken line of patronage successes" and afford concrete proof that it pays to be open and above board in politics as in everything else in the last analysis.

"Lost and Found."

A woman who recently lost a handbag of some value on the streets of a large city was telling the other day about her observations of "Lost and Found" advertising. She watched a number of newspapers for a week or two. She says that there are half a dozen people who advertise articles lost, for every one who ever advertises anything found.

Any article of sufficient value to advertise is usually picked up by some one. It looks as if about five-sixths of the people who find articles of value keep them, making no serious effort to find the owner.

No doubt most people who would

To The Almighty

Lord God, we pray for peace! We lift our plea
That to these shores the red tide shall not roll,
Yet first we ask this greater boon of Thee.
This greater boon, still dearer to our soul,
That peace shall not be ours if peace be lost;
That ease shall not be ours if ease be shame;
That Thou wilt teach us, if we must, to face
The wrath and wrack, the fury and the flame.

Point us the way of service, mighty Lord!
Make us to see the high thing we must do,
And if, to serve, we needs must bare the sword,
Nerve heart and arm to see the dread task through.

Dear God, we pray for peace, but first we pray
That this, our country, loved by us as well,
Shall not from duty turn her face away.
Shall not lose hope of Heaven for fear of Hell.

INCREASED SAVINGS.

"Our standards should be lifted up. We all were too luxurious. You in Chicago and New York were too luxurious. Berlin was too luxurious. In Paris, also, people had become too luxurious. We shall all be made simpler by this war. We shall be made more frugal, more serious, less cynical." —Viscount Haldane, Lord Chancellor of England.

The uncertain conditions of the past year and the great demands for unusual charitable contributions, have brought home to a great many of our citizens the thought of economy as never before.

The Northwestern National Bank, of Minneapolis reports that the average balance to the credit of its several thousand savings depositors is $20,000 higher than a year ago.

A firm of investment bankers of New York, in an effort to get a correct idea of the present financial situation, asked 2,000 leaders of business throughout the country a number of questions, including this one: "Are people generally disposed to economize? If so, is this economy caused by reduced earnings or increased thriftiness?" Stricter economy is general, said most of the answers—of necessity, said 485 of them.

The New York superintendent of banks reports savings deposits on January 1st almost $30,000,000 in excess of those of a year previous, with 27,000 additional depositors.

This is not the first time that it has been demonstrated that savings bank deposits grow larger and capital accumulates faster during periods of depression than during the flush times, when employment is abundant and wages are high.

It is simply human nature to act in this way. But those who want to win a permanent financial success must overcome this tendency to drift along the line of least resistance.

Let them get the taste of savings and it will breed in them both the desire and the ability to create permanent resources, in other words, to become money-makers.

China and America.
Fifteen Chinese business men, all more or less prominent, are touring the country at the invitation of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific Coast. These visitors are now in the East, and they are receiving official and private courtesies. Already it appears that the visit has developed interest in a project that has long been considered, but never before has been regarded as quite practicable. It is proposed to establish an American-Chinese bank in Shanghai and other Chinese cities as business may warrant. The native Chinese manufacturers and merchants greatly desire the opening of such an institution as it would afford the machinery for exchange. —Indianapolis News.

Copper and Lead.
Copper and lead are higher than at any time since 1907, and zinc gives indications of becoming a precious metal. The military demands of Europe naturally explain these price changes, but in the case of copper exports have been running much behind last year. The domestic demand has sharply increased. Apparently the domestic consumers waited for the price to drop, instead of which it advanced, and now they are hurrying to lay in supplies. —Philadelphia Record.

Illuminating Figures.

Workers' Right to Share In the Profits Now Recognized to Be Good Business

By GEORGE W. PERKINS, Capitalist

THE impossible is happening. Labor and capital are joining hands. The thing which everybody has wanted and few have dared to hope for is rapidly becoming an actual fact in American life. Quietly and almost unnoticed by the general public, the great change has begun. IT IS THE CHANGE FROM COMPETITION TO CO-OPERATION, FROM PROFIT GRABBING TO PROFIT SHARING, FROM INDUSTRIAL WAR AND THE HOPE OF CONQUEST TO INDUSTRIAL PEACE AND THE ASSURANCE OF PROSPERITY.

A house divided against itself cannot stand. Industry can not continue to develop upon a war basis. Unless the workers have a direct interest in the success of the industry the most perfect mechanical system will lag and break.

This is not the discovery of a social reformer. It is a fact which all practical business men must recognize. It will not do simply to deplore the "loss of loyalty" among the workers. We must understand why that loyalty has vanished.

THE ANSWER IS FOUND IN THE VERY THINGS WHICH MADE INDUSTRY ON A LARGE SCALE POSSIBLE—UNIVERSAL EDUCATION AND INTERCOMMUNICATION. WITHOUT THESE MODERN INDUSTRY COULD NOT EXIST. WITH THEM THE ANCIENT RELATIONS OF CAPITAL AND LABOR CANNOT EXIST.

Better Than None.
One day, while Willie and Harry were playing in a field they disturbed a humble bees' nest, and began running with the bees after them. When they had run for a few yards Harry breathlessly panted, "Willie, we ought to pray while we are running!" To which Willie replied: "I know it, but I can't think of but one prayer." And Willie, thus admonished, called out between gasps: "Oh, Lord, for what we are about to receive, make us truly thankful!" —National Weekly.

Our Own Popular Songs.
A working girl who sought a job when business was real slack. Tried exercising horses at the old Lathrop track. She liked the work, and she was always certain of her pay. For her employer was a sport who paid her by the day. Said he, "You're an apprentice, but I'll let you have a mount. And you can ride Star Shooter, he's a colt of some account. He's entered in a race next week, and he'll win sure as fate. But you must cut out beer and train so you can make the weight." The great day came, and when the nags paraded to the post. The girl had made the weight, but she was feeling like a ghost. The barrier went up and then Star Shooter took the lead. He ran like he was scared to death and showed a world of speed. He ran so fast that he was soon in front by a half mile. And when they hit the stretch the girl looked back with a glad smile. The great crowd yelled: "Come on, you Star! Come on! The rest are jokes!" And then the girl remembered that she must face all them folks. She felt round for her powder rag and powdered up her nose. And gazed into her mirror as she sat in sweet repose. And, as she primed, the other horses galloped up and passed. And, when she finished dolling up, poor Star was running fast. Star's owner said: "You're fired, you dub. Go win you didn't try." And though big bumps were in her throat, the brave girl did reply: Chorus: "I may be riding horses, but I'm human just the same! And should I care your old nag lost, why should I take the blame? And no guy ain't no gent, though he wears diamonds on his clothes, Who'd fire a working girl because she powdered up her nose?"

Readers' View Point

Capital Punishment.
Editor of Advocate—In view of the International Sunday School lessons of last Sunday and next Sunday I would like to ask all the esteemed, the Christian ministers and Sunday school officers and teachers in Ohio who voted for capital punishment last year most of them no doubt on the theory that it is a divine command and from a sense of Christian duty—why the Lord Jehovah spared the life of King David who was guilty of one of the basest murders that was ever perpetrated under the sun.

Will they tell their people and scholars that although the Lord spared the life of King David, we must not follow his example on pain of his sorest displeasure?

And will they maintain that notwithstanding, all our boasted progress in civilization and humanity, society cannot exercise right and duty of self-protection without adhering to the law of retaliation—an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and a life for a life—which Jesus Christ expressly condemned?

In other words will they maintain that the teachings of Christ and the whole New Testament are only for individuals and have no application to society as an organized body? Or will they maintain that in the administration of criminal law we should remember the words of Abraham Lincoln how he said "With malice toward none, with charity for all?"

At council meeting last night the matter of Broadway paving was again discussed. Last week a petition was handed this council, signed by a majority of Broadway property-owners, asking that some material, other than brick, be used on this principal thoroughfare of Granville. The trustees took the matter under further advisement and instructed the clerk of the council to visit each Broadway property-owner and secure from him, or her, a statement as to his preference for brick or asphalt; park or no park.

The trend of popular opinion as voiced in this report is overwhelmingly against both park and brick, and the former was disposed of by a vote of council, but the paving is still in the air. Owners of property argue that so long as the paving must be done and so long as it is going to cost them a penny or two, it might as well be done to suit them, and asphalt won by a 25 to 6. The matter will be settled after the council has called for bids.

THIN PEOPLE CAN INCREASE WEIGHT

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Evans' drug store and other leading druggists in Newark and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Your Boys and Girls

When putting baby to bed after the last evening feeding, which ought to be at seven or seven-thirty, rub his back and see that all the neck bands are dry and comfortable. Leave him in a dark, well ventilated room and do not again feed him until he awakens and is hungry. You will find that a well nourished baby will sleep all night without awakening.

Before mixing his milk put well washed bottle, nipple, funnel, tablespoon and teaspoon on the stove in a pan of cold water and let them all come to a boil. This is the only way to be sure the articles are sterilized.

Obituary

Andrew Franklin Vermillion.

Andrew Franklin Vermillion, son of Mr. George Orr, died at the Newark Sanitarium early this morning, his system being unable to withstand an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Vermillion was aged 22 years, and was born east of this city. His mother, Mrs. George Orr, died when he was an infant and it was her dying request that her son be placed in the Vermillion home, Mrs. Vermillion being a second mother to Mrs. Orr. The father complied with the request and the young lad's name was changed to that of his foster parents.

Andrew Vermillion has resided nearly all his life with his foster parents, Mr. Vermillion passing to the great beyond a little over a year ago. The family resides one mile south of Clay Lick and the young man was well and favorably known in the community. He was a member of the Christian Union church and an active member in Sunday school work.

A few hours before his death he called his sorrowing foster mother to his bedside and again professed his faith in God. He arranged for his funeral and requested that he be laid to rest in the Carmel cemetery by the side of "Poppy" Vermillion, as he was wont to call him in his childhood days. He then bid a sorrowing farewell to his loved ones and shortly thereafter his spirit took flight.

Mr. Vermillion is survived by his father, Mr. George Orr, his foster mother, Mrs. Vermillion and a sister, Mae Smith. The funeral cortege will leave the house at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning and services will be conducted at the Carmel church, interment in the cemetery nearby.

Mrs. Isabelle Weir.

Mrs. Isabelle Weir, after a week's illness, died at the home of her step-daughter, Mrs. J. M. Welch, Monday morning at 3:45 o'clock. The deceased was aged 80 years, 1 month and 20 days. She was the last surviving member of a family of eleven children. She was the daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Williams of New Salem, O., but for the past fifty years has been a resident of Hartford township.

Funeral services were conducted at New Bethel Christian Union church, Wednesday at 10 a. m. Rev. H. J. Duckworth of Mt. Sterling, O., her former pastor had charge of the services. Interment was made in Trenton cemetery.

In Milady's Boudoir

BY GWEN SEARS.

All hands cannot be beautifully shaped, but they can be well groomed, and thus at once proclaim the gentlewoman. Many pretty, tapering fingers are disfigured by nail biting, and it is always a shame to allow this habit to continue.

Even a young child's nails should be manicured as soon as the biting habit begins. If the nails are well shaped and smooth, the cuticle pushed back and kept free from hang nails, there will be much less tendency to bite them.

The nails should always be filed, not cut and the cuticle should be pushed back a little each day. A tiny, delicate edge of cuticle should always be left at the base and sides of the nails, as this was intended by nature to keep the nails shapely.

When the cuticle is gently pressed back each day, the little white half moon, at the base of the nails which adds greatly to their beauty is revealed. The shape of the nails should conform to the shape of the finger ends, and extend slightly beyond. A good flesh rubbed into three backs of the hands two or three times a week will prevent wrinkles and keep the hands plump.

ENSIGN

GRADUATED LAST WEEK, MADE DEFENDANT IN NAVAL ACADEMY SCANDAL

Charged With Receiving Help in Examination by the Court of Inquiry at Annapolis.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Annapolis, Md., June 9. One ensign in the navy who became so with the receipt of his diploma upon graduation from the naval academy only last week, and an additional midshipman of the second class, were today made additional defendants before the court of inquiry which is investigating the "going-in" scandal at the institution. That the scope of the investigation might from time to time widen and more midshipmen, now officers, become involved had been expected, but that this step would be taken so quickly was something of a surprise.

The additional defendants are: Ensign W. A. Confer and Midshipman A. C. Rogers.

Midshipman Rogers was present when the announcement was made by the court and at once joined the seven midshipmen who were defendants when the case opened. The naval department has been requested to order Ensign Confer to Annapolis immediately. He is on leave.

Commander Traut testified yesterday that the evidence derived from scraps of paper found outside the examination room, tended to show that Confer had received assistance and that a memorandum in the handwriting of Rogers contained both questions that were given in the examination and their answers.

ALLIES RESUME THE OFFENSIVE ON PENINSULA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, June 9.—A Havas dispatch from Athens, filed yesterday, says: "The allies have resumed the offensive at several points on the Gallipoli peninsula since Friday says a dispatch from Mytilene. The attack was begun in the morning by a general bombardment of the enemy's positions with the aid of the fleet. A fierce struggle all along the line followed and the fighting continues. "A squadron is protecting the landing of fresh troops near Seddul Bahr while the rest of the fleet ceaselessly bombards the inner forts. The allies' aeroplanes are continuously flying over the peninsula discovering enemy positions and correcting the fire of the fleet and batteries posted before Seddul Bahr. Prisoners state that the Turks expected reinforcements from Constantinople yesterday."

Dayton Dedicates New Church; Former Newark Man Pastor

At Dayton Sunday dedicatory services were held in the new Park Presbyterian church, of which Rev. L. S. Boyce, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, is pastor. Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University spoke at the morning and evening service. In the afternoon the building committee formally turned over the key of the church to the clerk of the sessions. This service was attended by all Dayton churches, many of whom spoke during the afternoon. Rev. L. S. Boyce read a history of the church.

RUSSIANS NOW DRIVING BACK GEN. MACKENSEN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Geneva, June 8.—Via Paris, June 9.—A Czernowitich dispatch to the Tribune, dated Monday, says: "The Russians north of Stanislaw, have repulsed all Austrian attacks between the Swica and Lomnitsa rivers. The Austrians attempted to debouch on the Danister, but the Russians inflicted cruel loss upon them. General Balkin's divisions, operating southeast of Kolomea, suffered enormous losses on the Pruth, where the Russians have gained an important success since Sunday. General Balkin was unable to effect a junction with the troops of General von Linington."

A Tarnow dispatch, dated Tuesday, says:

"The Russians are getting nearer and nearer the Austula driving before them the troops of General Mackensen, who probably will be obliged to fall back along his entire line. Since Sunday the enemy's losses have been over 2000 killed and wounded. The Russians again have occupied a position on the right bank of the Wyszynia. The Russian troops suffered heavily in the fighting between Grodek and Komareno. The Russians have stopped the German advance on the Danister."

COAL COMPANY IS RESPONSIBLE FOR NINE DEATHS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Johnstown, Pa., June 9.—Officials of the Smokeless Coal company were held responsible for an explosion in one of the company's mines which cost the lives of nine men near here recently by a coroner's jury late yesterday. The officials were censured for failing to provide to provide safety lamps for their miners as they were advised to do by the state mine inspector.

Floating mines, under various names, have figured in naval warfare for nearly 350 years, but they were first used with really deadly effect in the Russo-Japanese war of 1904-5.

BOMB DROPPED IN VENICE KILLS ONE, HURTS MANY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Venice, June 8.—Via Paris, June 9.—One person was killed and several were wounded by bombs dropped this morning from an Austrian aeroplane, which flew over the city. The property damage was not heavy and no historic buildings entered.

When the hostile aircraft was sighted, the residents of the city flocked to St. Mark's square. Apparently they were not concerned about their personal safety, but were chiefly concerned lest damage be done to the famous Basilica, the rebuilt Campanile and the Palace of the Doges. No bombs fell in this district, however. Later it was seen that there were two aeroplanes together. Their presence was signalled promptly and they at once became the object of a concentrated fire from the anti-airship guns stationed around Venice. There was a heavy fire, and one of the machines gave up the attack and disappeared in an easterly direction. It was believed that it was damaged. The other threw down about one dozen bombs, aimed principally at the airport station at Campitolo. None of them struck the hangar, but here it was that the only fatality occurred, the victim being a corporal of engineers. Other bombs fell in the canal and one damaged a steamboat which plies in the Grand Canal. The windows of the Hotel Monaco were broken by one missile, while another crashed through a roof and fell into a bed, but did not explode. In the meantime, the fire directed against this aeroplane was increasing, and it finally turned in the direction of the sea and disappeared.

Rome, June 8.—(Via Paris, June 9.)—The Italian official version of the Austrian aerial raid upon Venice this morning was contained in the following statement issued tonight at the war office: "An enemy aeroplane flew over Venice this morning and dropped a number of bombs which slightly damaged several houses. Fragments bruised a woman's arm and struck several persons in the head. Bombs were thrown further inland, killing one person and wounding several others."

BRYAN'S LIFE ACTIVE AND SPECTACULAR

THREE TIMES PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE, WILL RETIRE
TO LECTURE PLATFORM

Wilson in Speech Once Said He
"Ought to be Knocked Into a Cocked Hat."

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, June 9.—William Jennings Bryan's resignation as secretary of state became a question of principle at a critical moment in the nation's history, added another sensation to a spectacular career of life devoted to arduous political campaigning, the lecture platform and the cause of universal peace.

Attracting attention when he went to Congress in 1891, he leaped into prominence at once with a speech that electrified his audience. He had early carried the title of "Boy Orator of the Platte." His famous "Cross of Gold and Crown of Thorns" speech in 1896, at the psychological moment in the Democratic convention, won for him the nomination for the presidency. When the Spanish-American war broke out, he enlisted and went to the front as colonel of a regiment of "hooped" troops. On his return he again came into prominence at the Democratic convention of 1900, and throughout his campaign against McKinley, advocated the granting of independence to the Philippines and a policy of anti-imperialism.

Notwithstanding his political defeats he was acclaimed as the People's leader of Democracy and was supported by a large "second" following. He made speeches in nearly every city and town in the country and his oratorical fights with Taft and other political figures, with Taft in many states kept him in the forefront of public attention, always dramatically and in circumstances of vivid nation-wide interest.

When Mr. Bryan returned from a trip around the world in 1910 and was greeted by a great crowd in Madison Square Garden, his speech following government ownership of railways stirred up a sensation in domestic politics. It was shortly after this that Woodrow Wilson, then president of Princeton University, wrote the famous letter to Mr. Bryan, declaring that the world had made him feel that Mr. Bryan "ought to be knocked into a cocked hat."

The record of Mr. Wilson as governor of New Jersey in advancing progressive legislation attracted Mr. Bryan to him, and he visited the governor at his Princeton home. Although he was not a delegate for Champ Clark, Mr. Bryan caused another sensation at the Baltimore convention in 1912 by his fight on the Taft issue, leading in the New York delegation. He switched his support to Mr. Wilson at a critical moment, a circumstance to which has been ascribed Mr. Wilson's nomination, as well as the birth of a personal bond with Champ Clark.

During the national campaign of 1912 Mr. Bryan made many speeches for Mr. Wilson, principally in the far West. The two men met for the first time during the campaign at Lincoln, Neb., when they spoke from the same platform several times and received a tremendous ovation. Later Colonel E. M. Hays, a mutual friend, brought them together on the subject of the secretarieship of state, a place which Mr. Wilson offered to Mr. Bryan because of the latter's position in the Democratic party.

While holding the portfolio of secretary of state Mr. Bryan has continued in the public eye, not alone through his official acts, but his de-

AFTER SUFFERING TWO LONG YEARS

Mrs. Aselin Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"After my little one was born I was sick with pains in my sides which the doctors said were caused by inflammation. I suffered a great deal every month and grew very thin. I was under the doctor's care for two long years without any benefit. Finally after repeated suggestions to try it we got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the third bottle of the Compound I was able to do my housework and today I am strong and healthy again. I will answer letters if anyone wishes to know about my case."—Mrs. JOSEPH ASELIN, 606 Fourth Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for women's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

tion to two things—lecturing and politics. One of the first sensations of his official career was his announcement that grape juice would be substituted for alcoholic beverages whenever he entertained members of the diplomatic corps. His statement that $12,000 a year was not sufficient for a cabinet office and that he, therefore, must lecture to earn more money was another episode which drew forth comment around the world. He disregarded newspaper criticism, declaring he had never absented himself when official business required his presence in Washington. His letter concerning the distribution of patronage in San Domingo to "deserving Democrats" was another incident widely discussed.

Mr. Bryan's opposition to the nomination of Roger Sullivan in Illinois and his activity in other primary fights continued after his official identification with the Wilson administration. His editorials in his newspaper, The Commonwealth, on prohibition and woman suffrage, the signing of thousands of pledges in temperance meetings where he spoke and his advocacy of these issues, irrespective of the attitude of silence of President Wilson have furnished political gossip over his future plans and ambitions.

Members of the cabinet who know Mr. Bryan most intimately declare, however, that he has always been the least ambitious man at the cabinet table, and unswerving in his political support of the president. He used his influence in Congress to keep the ranks of the administration Democrats solid for the tariff and currency bills.

The secretary handled personally the negotiation of nearly 30 peace treaties between the United States and foreign nations, by which all disputes were to be submitted to an impartial investigating commission for a year before hostilities could begin. The delicate negotiations in the Japanese-Chinese situation recently were directly in the hands of Mr. Bryan, who consulted with the president constantly. He was a stickler for secrecy, refusing to give the slightest hinting as a rule, concerning foreign questions until negotiations were concluded.

When the anti-laud land controversy arose with Japan Mr. Bryan went to California and continued later here, anting on the details of those negotiations, leaving little to his subordinates.

Mr. Bryan's now famous remark to the ambassador of China in a critical moment in the relations between the United States and Japan—"There is nothing final between friends"—was but one of his numerous expressions in the advocacy of lasting peace.

The numerous questions involved in the dealings of the United States with the national leaders in Mexico also absorbed his attention at all hours of the day and night.

Mr. Bryan's home life in the capital has won the admiration of officials and diplomats. He and Mrs. Bryan have entertained lavishly, giving a series of luncheons, dinners and garden parties during the last two years. When Mr. and Mrs. Bryan came here from Lincoln they took the house in which General John A. Logan formerly lived.

Secretary Bryan plans to return to his lectures and editorials.

FORCE ONLY WILL SECURE WORLD PEACE

SENATOR LODGE ASSERTS THAT A UNION INTERNATIONAL POLICE SYSTEM

Should be Kept Aloft and Assure to Overcome the Strongest Individual Ambition.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Senators Henry Cabot Lodge, speaking today at the commencement exercises at Union College, asserted that world peace would never be maintained without strong force, and advocated a union of nations with international police aloft and ashore, strong enough to overcome the strongest individual state.

"How is peace to be established and maintained among nations?" Senator Lodge said. "One thing is certain, it cannot be done by words. Nothing will be accomplished by people who are sheltered under neutrality, gathered outside the edges of the fight and from comfortable safety, summoning the combatants to throw down their arms and make peace, because war is filled with horrors and women are the mothers of men. The nations and men now fighting, as they believe for their lives and their freedom and their national existence, know all this better than anyone else and would heed such advice if they heard it, no more than the twittering of birds."

"It would be as futile," the senator said, "to abolish armaments as it would be to abolish fire, because fire sometimes caused great configurations with the attendant loss of life and property or knives, because knives injured wounds. The reason for deeper than armaments: it was the desire to use them wrongly for aggression. A general reduction of armaments," he said, "should be sought with earnestness, for on one nation to disarm and leave itself defenseless in an armed world, is a direct invitation and invitation of war."

"Nations must unite," the senator said, "as men unite to produce peace and order. This great nations must be so united as to be able to say to any single country, 'You must not go to war, and they can only say that effectively when the country desiring war knows that the force which the united nations place behind peace is irresistible. I am certain that it is in this direction alone that we can find hope for the maintenance of world's peace and the avoidance of needless wars."

"It may easily be said that this idea which is not a new one, is impracticable, but it is better that the idea that war can be stopped by language, by speech-making, by vain agreements which no one would carry out when the strife came for these methods are not only impracticable, but impossible and barren of all hope of real result."

The college conferred bachelor's and degrees upon four Civil war veterans, who stopped their studies to join the Union army more than half a century ago. The degrees were those they would have won had their studies had not been interrupted fifty years ago or more.

CATTLE KILLED BY LIGHTNING AT UTICA MONDAY EVE

(Special to Advocate.)
Utica, O., June 9.—During the storm on Monday evening the lightning killed five valuable cattle for B. B. Parsons and one for John Brown, all partly insured.

Mrs. Flora and Miss Jessie Smith were Utica business visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. Joe Simpson fell on a nail, last Friday, which was striking point-up in a board, forcing it through her hand more than an inch, and was compelled to get a neighbor to pull it out, inflicting a very painful and dangerous wound, but is getting along very nicely at present writing.

The twentieth annual Hawkins-Larimore reunion was held at the paternal residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Shaffer, just west of Homer, last Wednesday, with 125 people from Mr. Lippert, Centerville, Mr. Vernon and Utica, and weather and surroundings furnished tables spread under a commodious tent on the large and beautiful lawn, there was certainly nothing to mar a wholesome and jolly good time. The principal formal features were short talks and speeches from Reverend Messrs. Morhouse, Carpenter and Linscomb, and Dr. Larimore.

Mr. Vernon who gave a condensed history of the Larimore family, and everybody went home feeling that they had had a good time and fully determined to attend the next one, if possible.

DECADENCE

SOCIAL AND RELIGIOUS, AND MUTATED MORALITY FOL-LWS PROHIBITION

It is Not Temperance but Intemperance, Boston Speaker Tells Wholesale Liquor Dealers.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cincinnati, O., June 9.—"While I have no relation or interest in the traffic prohibition desires to destroy, I cannot say I am wholly disinterested, because any movement or agitation that threatens the peace and prosperity of the nation, must interest every good citizen," said Joseph Smith, of Boston, in an address before the convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of America here today.

Continuing, Mr. Smith said:

"Prohibition is a wolf in sheep's clothing; a destroyer and devourer wearing the garments of temperance and morality with the tongue and rancor of the tempest. It has many propensities and preachers and some practitioners."

"Prohibition is generally an accompanying circumstance of social and religious decadence, or mutated morality and political hysteria. When the normal and healthy conditions of society are restored, when social sanity, political poise, trade activity, industrial energy come back, prohibition will be a thing of the past."

"Prohibition is not temperance; it is radicalism and intolerance. The vast majority of the world is temperate; moderation in thought, speech, habit and action is the rule of the world. Without such temperance in human activity religion would be a mockery, peace an impossibility, civilization a failure and political freedom an idle dream. Because prohibition is contrary to the genius and thought of a free people, because its precepts are false and its promise illusory it will fall today as it fell yesterday."

The National Association of Wine and Spirit representatives an affiliated body of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealer's Association, began its ninth annual convention today.

"VIRGINIA LEE" WEEK

Peculiar Demonstration Conferred on a Popular Song.

A new song entitled "Virginia Lee," which is traveling through the country, is being exploited in this and other cities by being sung and demonstrated in the various music stores, on the vaudeville stage and other places of amusement. Although the song has only been out a short time it has become a very popular air and has been recognized to such an extent that a week has been named by its publishers as "Virginia Lee" week. Here is a part of the song's chorus:

VIRGINIA LEE

Vir-gin-ia Lee, my own Vir-gin-ia,
Come to me, I'm as lonesome as can be,
I've been waiting, waiting to win you, win you, Virginia,
Here in Courtland 1932

The song was written by Jeff Branch, author of "In the Valley of the Moon," and other rustic ballads. A triple rhyme in the song running: "Virginia, I've been waitin' to win you; If there's a soul within you, Virginia, Come back to me." seems to be the keynote of its popularity, although the melody is also said to be particularly catchy.

try should, in my judgment, make the offer.

"Such an offer, if accepted, would at once relieve the tension and silence all the jingoes who are demanding war. Germany has always been a friendly nation and a great many of our people are of German ancestry. Why should we not deal with Germany according to this plan to which the nation has pledged its support?"

"The second point of difference is as to the course which would be pursued in regard to Americans traveling on belligerent ships, or with cargoes of ammunition.

"Why should an American citizen be permitted to involve his country in war by traveling upon a belligerent ship when he knows that the ship will pass through a danger zone?"

"The question is not whether an American citizen has a right under international law to travel on a belligerent ship; the question is whether he ought not, out of consideration for his country, if not for his own safety, avoid danger when avoidance is possible.

"It is a very one-sided citizenship that compels a government to go to war over a citizen's rights and yet relieve the citizen of all obligations to consider his nation's welfare. I do not know just how far the president can legally go in actually preventing Americans from traveling on belligerent ships, but I believe the government should go as far as it can, and that in case of doubt it should give the benefit of the doubt to the government.

"But even if the government could not legally prevent citizens from traveling on belligerent ships, it could and, in my judgment, should earnestly advise American citizens not to risk themselves or the peace of their country and I have no doubt that these warnings would be heeded.

"President Taft advised Americans to leave Mexico when insurrection broke out there and President Wilson has repeated the advice. This advice, in my judgment, was eminently wise and I think the same course should be followed in regard to warning Americans to keep off vessels subject to attack.

"I think, too, that American passenger ships should be prohibited from carrying ammunition. The lives of passengers ought not to be endangered by cargoes of ammunition, whether the danger comes from possible explosions within or from possible attacks from without. Passengers and ammunitions should not travel together. The attempt to prevent American citizens from incurring these risks is entirely consistent with the effort which our government is making to prevent attacks from the submarines.

"The use of one remedy does not exclude the use of the other. The most familiar illustration is to be found in the action taken by municipal authorities during a riot. It is the duty of the mayor to suppress the mob and to prevent violence, but he does not hesitate to warn citizen to keep off the streets during the riots. He does not question their right to use the streets, but for their own protection and in the interest of order, he warns them not to incur the risks involved in going upon the streets when men are shooting at each other.

"The president does not feel justified in taking this action above stated. That is, he does not feel justified, first, in suggesting the submission of the controversy to investigation, or second, in warning the people not to incur the hazards in traveling on belligerent ships or on ships carrying ammunition. And he may be right in the position he has taken, but, as a private citizen, I am free to urge both of these propositions and to call public attention to these remedies, in the hope of securing such an expression of public sentiment as will support the president in employing these remedies, if, in the future he finds it consistent with his sense of duty to favor them."

Secretary Bryan said, in giving out his statement that while it mentioned only two points of difference, he reserved others for presentation in the future.

The Courts

In Common Pleas.
In Common Pleas Court on Wednesday, Judge Blair of Mt. Vernon heard the arguments of counsel in the case of Perry Feazel vs. Jacob Feazel. Plaintiff sued to recover $1061 upon an account which he has against the defendant.

The question argued and submitted to Judge Blair was as to whether the items sued upon had or had not been heretofore determined in certain litigation between the parties tried at Delaware some time since.

Should the matter submitted to Judge Blair be decided in favor of the plaintiff, the present petit jury which has been in attendance upon the court since the first of April, may be called upon to try the issue at a later date.

Motion Filed.
A motion has been filed in the case of Leora J. Hedrick vs. L. W. Hedrick in which the defendant asks the court to reduce the allowance made in the case on May 23, 1913, of $30 per month to be paid the plaintiff by defendant, for the support of a minor daughter, eight years of age. Defendant in the motion claims that the amount is excessive, that both plaintiff and defendant have since married and that the latter now has a household of his own to maintain. He also asks the court to allow him the privilege of seeing his daughter and taking her to his home at least five days a month.

The Great Interest In The Dressmaking School

Is bringing in new pupils every day. Every worker in the class is enthusiastic about what she is making. Some ladies want to take two lessons a day, but they can not. They must do some home work. You would like it immensely. A week of variation and instruction under a private teacher would help you in your home sewing. You will learn the new way of cutting from paper patterns.

The Butterick Teacher Says:

"You should see the surprise of the women when they put their dress on for the first fitting and it fits wonderfully well."

"And the saving. They save more on their first dress than the cost of the course, and they are delighted to find they can keep on saving afterwards."

"Women don't seem to realize how practical and simple our method is until they see the dress some friend has made in the school."

We are still signing up pupils. The school will last only three weeks more. The entire course is 6 lessons, 1 1/2 hours daily. Costs only $2.00 and everything you make is your own.

17 WEST CHURCH STREET.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Shakespeare's delightful comedy, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," was given by the senior class of the high school last evening to a packed house, every seat having been sold hours previous to the opening of the doors. The management was reluctantly compelled to refuse requests for nearly several scores of reservations.

The players were coached by Chalmers Parker of the high school faculty and all were a credit to him as he has worked hard to make the play a success, and it was in a measure due to his indomitable efforts that it achieved such a splendid measure of success.

The play was the greatest success of recent years. The costumes were elaborate, the scenery varied, and the different types of characters were many. Mendelssohn's music was used, and was beautifully rendered by Miss Olive Baughman, a member of the graduating class.

Kathryn Davis was exceptionally good in her interpretation of the part of Puck, or Robin Goodfellow. Her costume was the same as that used by Maude Adams for her Puck. She delighted the audience with her cleverly presented conception of the part of the mischievous minister of fairyland. She was easily the star of the play, her work being of a quality that is rarely excelled either by amateurs or professionals.

The parts of the hard-handed men were all well played. Frank Ryan as "Bully" Bottom furnished plenty of wholesome humor. He came near to fulfilling his promise "to play a part to tear-a-cat into make all split." Almost as good were Dale Warner as Quince and Harold Vogel as Flute. The "very tragical mirth" offered by the death of Pyramus and Thisbe and the dance of the clowns brought forth a great deal of laughter. The success of the hard-handed man furnished a restful change after the more serious parts. Albert Kaiser, Joseph Hawkins and Harry Guttridge also did their part to make the "odious brief" play of Pyramus and Thisbe a success.

Doris Avery played the part of Helena very successfully. Her voice was splendid and her appearance and manner very pleasing. The other lovers, Helen Laughlin, a very pretty Helena, Richard Stevens, and Leland Stevenson handled their difficult parts very creditably. The work showed careful practice. The other Mortals were Frederick Meridith as Theseus, Joseph Hawkins, a very old man in the part of Egeus, Mary Franks as Hippolyta and Herbert Rine as Philostrate.

Inez Korb as Oberon, king of the fairies, deserves special mention. She played her part well and sang several very pretty solos. Bernice Catt made a pretty appearance as Titania, queen of the fairies. Four little girls delighted the audience as little fairies. They were Marjorie Meridith, Angela Brennan, Dorothy Jane McDermott and Miriam Hildreth.

The large demand for tickets and the interest manifested by the audience seem to indicate that Newark was well pleased by the change from the modern comedy to one of the classical plays. The selection of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" proved to be a fortunate one.

The play was coached by Chalmers Parker. He is to be congratulated in having such a splendid group of people to work with in making up the characters. Mr. Parker was assisted by Prof. Victor Hoppe of Denison.

The characters, all in capable hands, were as follows:

Mortals—Theseus, Duke of Athens, Frederic Meridith; Egeus, Hermia's father, who favors Demetrius, Joseph Hawkins; Lysander, in love with Hermia, Leland Stevenson; Demetrius, a rival, Richard Stevens; Philostrate, master of Revels, Herbert Rine; Hippolyta, queen of Amazons, Mary Franks; Hermia, in love with Lysander, Helen Laughlin; Helena, in love with Demetrius, Doris Avery.

Hard-handed men of Athens—Quince, the carpenter, Dale Warner; Snug, the joiner, Joe Hawkins; Bottom, a weaver, Frank Ryan; Flute, a bellows-mender, Harold Vogel; Snout, the tinker, Harry Guttridge; Starveling, a tailor, Albert Kaiser.

Immortals—Oberon, king of fairies, Inez Korb; Titania, queen of fairies, Bernice Catt; Puck, a fairy, Katherine Davis; Peas Blossom, Marjorie Meridith; Cobweb, Angela Brennan; Mustardseed, Dorothy Jane McDermott; Moth, Miriam Hildreth.

Pianist, Olive Baughman; prompter, Edith Fleming; stage manager, Louis Wall; stage carpenter, Paul Horton; coach, Chalmers Parker.

Synopsis.
Act 1—The Duke's palace. Egeus asks the privilege of Athens to compel his daughter to marry Demetrius.

Scene 2—Quince's house. The Hard-handed men plan a play in honor of Theseus' nuptials.

Scene 3—A wood near Athens. Oberon and Titania quarrel about a little changeling boy that Oberon desires. Titania refuses to give him up.

Act 2—The Wood. Oberon sprinkles the magic juice on Titania's eyes. Puck, either willfully or by mistake, anoints Lysander's eyes with the love potion. He awakes and makes love to Helena. The Hard-handed men come to rehearse their play. Puck fixes asses' heads on Bottom and Titania awakening, loves him.

Oberon places love juice on Demetrius' eyes. Both Lysander and Demetrius love Helena and they quarrel. Puck prevents a duel by overcasting the moon with a cloud, then applies the juice to Lysander's eyes and all is well.

Act 3—The wood. Theseus finds the lovers.

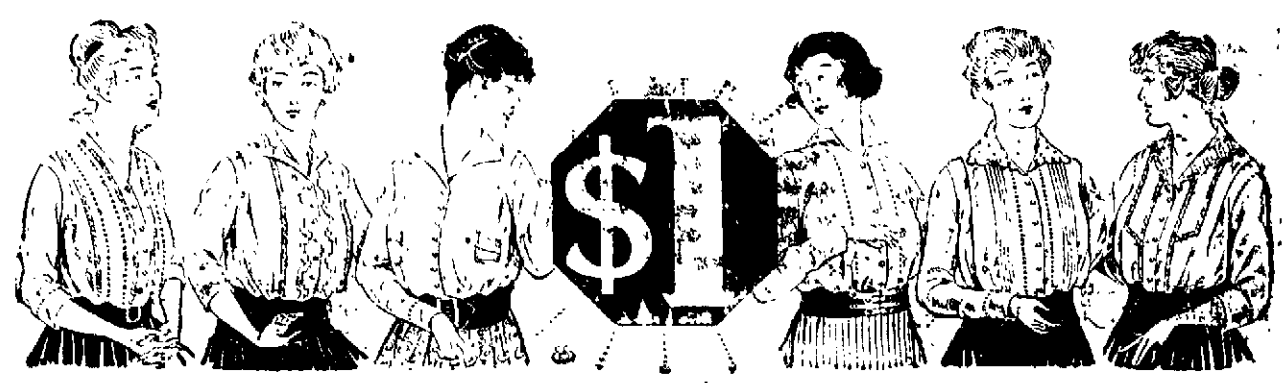

Scene 2—A street in Athens. The clowns bemoan the disappearance of Bottom.

Scene 3—The Duke's palace. The Hard-handed men of Athens present their play before the Duke.

The large cast portrayed the characters of the play in a manner most excellent. It is impossible to give individual mention of the different persons participating but all were very clever. Indeed a number exhibited true professionalism. "A Midsummer Night's Dream" as presented by the senior class this year was a true success in every sense of the word and all who witnessed it are loud in their praise of the entertainment.

Class day exercises were held this afternoon by the seniors in the Auditorium of the high school. Mr. Leland Stevenson, class president, delivered the address. Musical selections were rendered by the High school orchestra. A history of the class was given by Mina Fletcher the class prophecy by Lula Hess and the class poem by Ruth Hirst. After a piano solo by Ruth Baughman the class will be read by Grace Killworth and a selection by the orchestra brought the exercises to a close. The commencement will be held tomorrow evening and eight members

A Simple Constipation Remedy—Try It

For quick, positive relief from constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, inactive liver, bad breath, and all the ills that follow them nothing as yet has been found to quite equal that old-time-true compound of may-apple root, aloes and jalap.

Recognized as one of the standard remedies, physicians daily prescribe it, many preferring it to all others, and especially calomel. They like it because, being purely vegetable, it's not nearly as harsh as calomel; it never gripes; is never followed by any of the dangerous after-effects that so often result from the use of calomel.

This standard remedy, ready-prepared, may now be had under the name of Santalax Laxative Tablets. Be sure you get the original Santalax Laxatives, put up in the box that has the picture of the soldier on it. In this form it is much more convenient and easier to take than in the old-fashioned powder or capsule form—cheaper, too; a 10c box of Santalax should last one several weeks. A physician's sample package (4 doses) free to any one answering this advertisement. The Santalax Remedy Co., 801 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.
